

Letter to Howard McMullin (10/30/1946)

Grand Junction, Colorado.
Oct. 30, 1946.

Mr. Howard W. McMullin,
118 So. 5th St.,
City.

Dear Sir,

In regards to this woman that has forced her way into your father's household, if you or your father didn't know the type of woman that she is or the reputation that she has in this town, with every man that wanted to take up with her to have his own private desires taken care of, I am surprised, because practically every other man and woman in this country knows what she has been doing around here for the past several years and knows what her game is.

If your father only knew how the people of Grand Junction are laughing at him and ridiculing him for letting this kind of woman come around into his home, (that your dead Mother made sure), he would be advised to be gone out in 30 days with her.

Just because she hasn't been living on South Ave. between 17th and 18th streets all of these years, doesn't signify that she isn't the same kind of woman.

I would and others of dozens of business and professional men pointing some of the doctors who have had affairs with this woman.

You know and everyone will know that she has no true love or respect for your father, although we all know that she is a good dresser, all that she wants of him is his money and property and if she can't get that, she will take his life insurance.

She is a slagger to the McMullin home and an insult to the friends of the McMullins.

Try and make your father see how it is lowering the reputation respect for him, in his old age, to have this kind of woman as his mistress.

She is just another gold digger, and she is as heartless and cruel as a person can be, and I sure feel sorry for him.

I know your father is old and maybe getting a little childish and feeling a sensation, but we all know that this woman is not the right kind of companion to make his last years on this earth happy and comfortable.

After having talked with several of your father's close friends about town, we have all been of the same opinion that if neither you or your father knew what kind of a woman she is, that you should be told, and not keep her around, kick her out, and not expect our wives to be humiliated by having to meet her as Mrs. McMullin.

This note expresses the feelings and is the opinion of your father's friends about town.

and we hope and pray that you will do everything within your power, and leave no stone unturned to make your father see her in her true light and to get rid of her and get her out of his home before it is too late.

Trusting for quick success in this matter we beg to remain
Your friends,
